Yes I saw that. I think they want about 78,500 Euros for it.

It was originally a VdP DHC but they say the remains of the body are quite bad. It's the vintage (pre ZMBS) chassis.

I have a list of the bits with it. It could be quite a nice project if not too much is missing. Budget around £30K for a trimmed T2 body - possibly from David Ayre or other well known experts who work to the high standard it deserves.

Cheers Colin
