chassis 12017
Written by mehere at Nov 07, 2019 12:31 pm

Sold at Bonhams- and now here

http://www.vandp.net/sales/1801/1936-lagonda-lg45-t8-tourer/

Re: chassis 12017
Written by Rich5ltr at Nov 07, 2019 4:51 pm

How much did it sell for at Bonhams Goodwood Auction? Their website simply says sold without stating an amount.

Re: chassis 12017
Written by Mark at Nov 07, 2019 9:31 pm

I tried to find this out also but it was sold after the auction so there is no requirement to publish the sale price. Indeed it may have been a condition set by the dealer buyer that the price was not disclosed for obvious reasons! However, I heard a whisper that it was less than £100k.
In relation to the current asking price, I was told many years ago by a car dealer that as a buyer you should not judge the profit the dealer will make (assuming you know the purchase price) but whether the asking price represents a good deal!
This car is a marriage albeit a good looking one.
Is a former LG45 saloon rebodied as an M45 T8 tourer but retaining much of the LG45 front end really worth original M45 money?
Guess it is down to individual choice.

Re: chassis 12017
Written by davidbracey at Nov 07, 2019 10:05 pm

Shame. Another rebodied Saloon. I dream of the day when people with convert them back!

Re: chassis 12017
Written by Rich5ltr at Nov 08, 2019 8:29 pm

I have since heard that it sold for £104,000 by Bonhams and that Prestige & Vintage sold it for approaching £200k

---

Re: chassis 12017
Written by mehere at Nov 20, 2019 4:54 pm

Sold for 150000 to a Lagonda man who has now totally dismantled it in order to re-fettle & 'add reliability' for long distance rallies...
