Road Trip to 'Zylinderhaus' Germany (Near Koblenz)?

Written by Keith at Dec 08, 2019 5:16 pm

I'm planning a road trip to Zylinderhaus, near Koblenz (easily found via Google), during late Spring, early Summer 2020.

The destination is good, but perhaps the road trip might be better. Who knows? I haven't done it before! I may well go via the Lauwman museum (near The Hague), with a visit to Thiesen (or the like), in Düsseldorf, en-route.

My plans are to head off, late May, early June, over 10(ish) days. Good hotels and nice food along the way.

If the idea tickles your fancy, and you would like to join in all - or part - of the trip; let me know.

More concrete plans for the journey will be finalised with friends (passengers) who will accompany me along the way, over dinner, during 'Techno Classica' in Essen (25th to 29th March 2020).

If you think you might like to join the trip; please make contact with me, Keith Currington: keith@glenbourne.co.uk 0r on: 07887780100.

This will be a very informal, make your own bookings trip. All are welcome.