

Lagondaforum: Buyer Beware Scintilla GN4 Magneto

Buyer Beware Scintilla GN4 Magneto

Written by GrahamSw at Nov 01, 2021 1:12 pm

[img]/[img]I'm writing this post in the hope of helping others avoid my Magneto difficulties. I was kindly lent an ML by Alan Fairbrother to get my 192714/60 running for a wedding deadline this summer. Alan then proceeded to refurbish a Scintilla GN4 for me, believing this to be the correct Magneto for my car. However, when it arrived I found that it would be a challenge to fit because the distributor collar is at the driven end - exactly where, on my car the retaining clip is mounted. Fortunately Alan and I came to an amicable agreement and I am keeping the loaned ML. Best plan would be to check where your magneto clips are before ordering a replacement!

Attachments:

magneto small.pdf (filesize: 158.77 KB)

Re: Buyer Beware Scintilla GN4 Magneto

Written by lagonda33 at Nov 14, 2021 9:03 am

The Scintilla GN4 is correct for the 2 Litre; they were fitted to both my cars and a description of this type Magneto is included in the original print of the 2 Litre owners manual. But it is not the ONLY correct Magneto for the 2 Litre and several different types could be fitted but with different brackets which would not suit the Scintilla GN4.
