

Lagondaforum: Transfer of Forum to Lagonda Club website

Transfer of Forum to Lagonda Club website

Written by bill at Jan 02, 2022 3:26 pm

I see from the newsletter this month that this Forum will shortly be transferred to the Lagonda Club website. If so, I just wanted to thank you Peter for setting up this Forum and maintaining it over the years. It has been a very valuable resource for me and I am sure for many other members.

Thank you very much !

Will one need to be a member of the Lagonda Club to continue to access this valuable forum?

I presume so, David. The new forum seems to only be accessible from the signed-in members dashboard.

Thanks David, that's a pity because I let my membership lapse at the end of 2012. What's the plan with this website, is that known?

Perhaps, if you're gaining benefit from the forum, and one assumes the new one will be of equal benefit, you should consider re-joining the club. £47 is a modest amount these days

How's this going to work then? It seems the forum has already been transferred over but I can still post on here. My posts from here appear in the club website forum as if they are someone else - different handle etc.

I prefer the format of this forum where the most recent post irrespective of category appears at the top. On the new forum the most recent post (ie the one on top) is a year ago. Not ideal. . . .

Hello David, yes, I agree with your assessment. I guess it's still being developed/adapted so. We'll have to wait and see.

I'll continue on this forum until it stops working.

David

The new forum is currently still under development, however when its launched (hopefully during early Feb), it will be accessible from the club home page without it being necessary to log in, so will also be available to non club members. The plan is that the new forum will be open to all (members and non members) just as it is now.
