

Lagondaforum: Shock absorbers (hydraulic) recommend a rebuilder!

Shock absorbers (hydraulic) recommend a rebuilder!

Written by h14 at Aug 15, 2009 10:26 pm

Gave my rear shock absorbers to VCSA in Croydon for rebuild nearly two YEARS ago...and he still hasn't even started on them! So can anyone recommend an alternative rebuilder for Armstrong lever arm shock absorbers? The rest of the mechanical rebuild is not far off finished now, so I'm getting concerned.

ALSO! These are non-adjustable ones, which were put on the car in 1952...if anyone has a reasonable pair of the correct type adjustable ones, I'd be interested.

Re: Shock absorbers (hydraulic) recommend a rebuilder!

Written by DavidLG45 at Aug 16, 2009 9:18 am

Hi,

Try Stevson Motors <http://www.stevsonmotors.co.uk/> They're in Birmingham. They did my Luvax shocks. It was several years ago but I don't remember that they were slow. They can possibly help you obtain the right type if you know what you're looking for.

What model Lagonda are they for?

Good luck

David

Re: Shock absorbers (hydraulic) recommend a rebuilder!

Written by h14 at Aug 16, 2009 10:51 am

Hi David,

Many thanks...I think Stevsons are Birmingham, which is a bit far north for me, but not so far as to be out of the question. Will call on VCSA on my return from Germany & see what sense I get. Also will be wanting front shock absorbers done now, so will have to extract promise of urgent treatment!

The shock absorbers are for my V12 (dhc).

Re: Shock absorbers (hydraulic) recommend a rebuilder!

Written by DavidLG45 at Aug 16, 2009 11:42 am

Yes Birmingham. Not sure about overhauling Armstrong shocks but with Luvax the choice of repairers is very limited, I believe. I couriered mine to Stevson then discussed on the phone. Worked well for me.

David

Re: Shock absorbers (hydraulic) recommend a rebuilder!

Written by h14 at Aug 16, 2009 4:06 pm

Had a look at their website & they seem pretty confident about overhauling anything. So much so it almost sounds as if they won't touch them unless they're very rare!

Laurence
