Folks,

I was aware of the Rapier block project when it took place about 20 years ago. I do agree with the seller's comment that this item would make the perfect starting point for someone wanting to re-manufacture or re build an engine. Bear in mind that this has not been machined so there is a fair amount of work to get it ready to use.

I am not sure whether the same casting would do 1500cc Rapier engines, but if it does, this item is highly desirable, as these engines make the cars go really well!

Cheers
