

Lagondaforum: Buying a rapide...

Buying a rapide...

Written by randall977 at Oct 29, 2010 10:40 am

This is in the Rapide specific section as well but looking at the regularity of replies I thought I would post it here too...

While on a nearby church roof I noticed this car (see attached photo taken on my phone) and was later able to have a good look around it. I have met the owner but have not tackled the subject of acquiring it. According to the DVLA it was last on the road in 1988. Assuming it is fairly crusty below etc etc should I try and acquire this vehicle (subject to it having its original engine) and how much? I have much better photos but they are on my camera...which is not with me at the moment. Thanks, Christian

Re: Buying a rapide...

Written by TVJL at Nov 01, 2010 6:43 pm

Hi Christian,

I may be able to help you in more ways than one re your questions. You are very welcome to email me on timbly10@live.com.

Regards,

Tim

Re: Buying a rapide...

Written by randall977 at Nov 04, 2010 10:14 am

Here's a better photo. I am currently in discussion with the owner about purchase...

Re: Buying a rapide...

Written by randall977 at Nov 22, 2010 1:36 pm

Re: Buying a rapide...

Written by TVJL at Nov 22, 2010 3:14 pm

Hi Christian,

Did you buy the Rapide?

Regards,

Tim

Re: Buying a rapide...

Written by randall977 at Nov 22, 2010 4:25 pm

No answer yet, I will press the owner for an answer within the next few weeks...

Re: Buying a rapide...

Written by TVJL at Nov 22, 2010 4:50 pm

Good man - go for it!

Lagondaforum: Buying a rapide...

Re: Buying a rapide...

Written by randall977 at Jan 06, 2011 9:58 am

I have now bought the Rapide... I have also spoken to Aston Service Dorset about spares etc - they have been really helpful. I was suprised to find that the horn push alone is £570!

Re: Buying a rapide...

Written by TVJL at Jan 06, 2011 6:58 pm

Well done Christian!

Please contact me again off line.

Regards,

Tim

Re: Buying a rapide...

Written by Francis at Jan 29, 2011 5:05 pm

Good for you!

I am also looking to purchase a Lagonda Rapide. May I ask how much you paid for it?

Francis
