

Lagondaforum: The Lagonda Badge

The Lagonda Badge

Written by Paul Nickalls at Dec 13, 2007 7:09 pm

If you examine the badge at the top of the page you will observe the "A"s are in the form of the freemason's compass and square. I gather that this is one of the freemason's symbols. Can any historian shed any light?

Re: The Lagonda Badge

Written by Peter S30 at Nov 11, 2008 6:05 pm

The same "A" can be found in "The Book of Lindisfarne", late 7th century. The monastery of Lindisfarne is on an island at the coast of Northumberland.

Attachments:

Lindisfarne-A.jpg (filesize: 34.85 KB)
