

Lagondaforum: old crankshaft

old crankshaft

Written by bill at Nov 15, 2011 8:02 pm

Does anyone have an old/scrap LG45 crankshaft that I could have or even borrow please ?

I want to get my flywheel and clutch assembly balanced but the balancer needs a crankshaft to mount everything on. He says that the condition of the crankshaft is immaterial. He could of course make a mandrel but then things get expensive...!

My own crankshaft is of course inside my engine so I cannot use that.

Any suggestions or offers very gratefully received.

Many thanks.

Bill

---

Re: old crankshaft

Written by alistair at Nov 15, 2011 11:42 pm

Bill

I have one that may be suitable that you could borrow although as you know they are very heavy so depending on where you are the transporting of it would be costly. send me a PM with your address etc

---

Re: old crankshaft

Written by Colin M34 at Nov 16, 2011 11:34 pm

Bill,

The people I deal with can balance a Meadows flywheel without a crank. PM me and I will give you their details. They did my M45.

Colin M34