

Lagondaforum: Tires for V12

Tires for V12

Written by Peter S30 at Nov 27, 2007 4:40 pm

Dear Forum members,

I am wondering if somebody made experience with different brands of tires for the V12 here is a supplier for different brands (width from 140 to 175mm)
<http://www.longstonetyres.co.uk/search.php?searchMethod=term&searchTerm=600%2F650+X+18>

regards

Peter

Re: Tires for V12

Written by Peter S30 at Jan 28, 2008 4:39 pm

Hi all V12 drivers,

which tires do you have on your cars, 6.00/6.50x18, but which brand, width ?

what are your experiences ?

The ones I have now are with much profile but old and cracked and I assume they are a bit risky and I have to get new ones

Re: Tires for V12

Written by Julian at Feb 06, 2008 5:16 pm

Michelin Cable comfort or "double Rivet" as they are commonly known, 600/650x18 is by far the best tyre and correct size combination for your car
Peter.

But not cheap.

Best regards,

Julian.

Re: Tires for V12

Written by Peter S30 at Feb 10, 2008 12:15 pm

Thank you Julian,

The cheaper "Excelsior" has a less pronounced profile and is narrower (140 compared to 175mm)

Why are the Michelin better?

Re: Tires for V12

Written by Julian at Feb 12, 2008 2:43 pm

Hi Peter,

Simple answer is Quality, tyre compound and size,

Michelin have tried hard to come up with a very good all round tyre with the Double Rivet design and these are VERY well suited to larger heavier and more powerful cars such as the V12.

The Excelsior are really not a good tyre in my opinion, and fitting the correct size tyre is quite important to get the best from the V12.

Have you heard of "Tupperware" ;o)

Even with tyres "you usually get what you pay for"

Lagondaforum: Tires for V12

Best regards,
Julian
