An challenging project, mainly complete.

This example has its DB gear box still intact, engine and parts from engine bay taken as usual.

Started at 250 pounds yesterday and now at 533 pounds.

The dhc fold down roof costs a considerable sum on its own, missing chrome work is available from several sources, so that is not so bad, but don't under-estimate costs here.

Both doors with complete trim which makes a change.

The same seller in Glossop, sold the 3.0 litre 4-door in a dreadful state for 501 pounds, back in March.

But caveat emptor, lots and lots of work for someone!

The car sold for 2300 pounds to a Lagonda club member who has an engine for it and various other parts to complete it.

Would be nice to see this car back on the road again.
