It is very lovely! What do you think about the price?

The vendor sold this car some time ago - to a collector and existing customer. He's just forgotten to end to take down the advertisement, I think.

If the car looked as a good as the pictures, then imho, it was very cheap at this price, no wonder it has been sold so quickly.

Very good dhc's are very hard to find and worth paying extra for.

There are a fair few average and below average cars on the market at this time, mainly through Lagonda owners club members...

Have spotted this car, and it was a bargain at 70k...
