

Lagondaforum: Lagonda High Chassis, Semi-Sports. 1926/27. Engine?

Re: Lagonda High Chassis, Semi-Sports. 1926/27. Engine?

Written by Colin M34 at Dec 23, 2014 12:35 am

Hi Laurence

I agree with your thoughts. Perhaps in the 1920's most cars were sold directly from the factory, so Kingston issued blocks of reg nos to Lagonda on demand. Things were altogether more relaxed in the 1920's and perhaps by the mid/late 30's they had to give up this practice.

By the way a lot of Frazer-Nashes and ACs also have PE numbers as well.

Colin

Re: Lagonda High Chassis, Semi-Sports. 1926/27. Engine?

Written by h14 at Dec 23, 2014 11:35 am

Hi Colin,

Frazer Nash...built in Kingston

AC...built in Thames Ditton (where I used to live, and could see the factory grounds, latterly built over with appalling modern housing).

Also HRG...built in Tolworth

British Salmson...I believe built in Raynes Park

I think there is a perception that cars were only built in the Midlands...sad to think that there was actually quite a spread of motor manufacturing in the South East, now just a fading memory.

Post war you could point to racing car manufacture...Cooper in Surbiton, Connaught at Send, near Woking...talking of which, McClaren is at Woking so there is some link there!

Laurence

Re: Lagonda High Chassis, Semi-Sports. 1926/27. Engine?

Written by bill at Dec 23, 2014 4:35 pm

And please dont forget (although it usually is) Alta in Surbiton both pre war and also after the war !

Re: Lagonda High Chassis, Semi-Sports. 1926/27. Engine?

Written by GrahamSw at Jun 08, 2015 9:06 pm

At long last the picture of PF8334, now in my possession.

Graham

Re: Lagonda High Chassis, Semi-Sports. 1926/27. Engine?

Written by GrahamSw at Jun 08, 2015 9:13 pm

Pictures - 2nd attempt

Attachments:

PF8334 Offside Xsm.jpg (filesize: 144.35 KB)

Re: Lagonda High Chassis, Semi-Sports. 1926/27. Engine?

Lagondaforum: Lagonda High Chassis, Semi-Sports. 1926/27. Engine?

Written by GrahamSw at Jun 08, 2015 9:14 pm

PF8334 Engine bay

Attachments:

PF8334 OS Engine bay Xsm.jpg (filesize: 147.12 KB)

Re: Lagonda High Chassis, Semi-Sports. 1926/27. Engine?

Written by GrahamSw at Jun 08, 2015 9:15 pm

PF 8334 Instruments

Attachments:

PF8334 Instruments Xsm.jpg (filesize: 104.75 KB)